GIRL CHARGED WITH AIDING CONVICT BREAK

Murderers in Death Cell Make Break for Liberty

CHICAGO, Mar. 12.—Leo Grant, shot down in a battle with three escaped convicts early today, died at a hospital here tonight. Grant was shot while attempting to capture the three Mexican slayers who broke from the Will county jail at Joliet, where they were awaiting death on the gallows.

By FRED VAN DEVENDER
(By Universal Service)

CHICAGO, March 12.—Pretty Juanita Gallardo, 19-year-old Mexican girl, was said to have admitted to the authorities late today that she had smuggled into the Will county jail the saws used in the sensational jail break at Joliet this morning.

She is said to be the sweetheart of Bernardo Roa, one of the escaped slayers, and the only one still at liberty. The other two, Gregorio Rizzo and Roberto Torres, have been captured. Rizzo was shot in a battle with police men, during which Leo Grant was shot in the stomach.

That the girl was given "inside" aid at the jail, the authorities are said to have little doubt. The break worked too smoothly, they point out, for it to have been of spontaneous origin.

Bars Are Sawed

Following the sawing of the bars at the jail, the three Mexicans, sentenced to the gallows for the murder of Deputy Warden Peter M. Klein at the Joliet prison, overpowered the jail guards, and disarmed them, giving the guns to three other convicts who were sentenced to hang for the same murder.

The other three, Charles Duchowski, Walter Stalski and Charles Shuler, unable to escape from the jail, barricaded themselves in one wing and took possession. They were finally subdued by tear gas rushed from the prison.

The Mexicans forced Guard Kirinich to drive them to South Chicago in the Will county sheriff's automobile, where they commandeered a taxicab driven by John Marenoak.

They were surprised in this cab by a bureau squad. The Mexicans opened fire, which was returned by the police. Rizzo was shot as was Policeman Grant. They were both rushed to a hospital. Marenoak was shot in the hip. He identified Rizzo as the man who shot him.

U. S. Red Cross Sends $50,000 To Tokio Victims

Concrete Floor Laying On Carquinez Bridge Under Way; May 21, Is Set For Opening

CROCKETT, March 12.—More than 500 lineal feet of the concrete floor on the world's largest highway bridge—Carquinez Bridge—the final link in a continuous highway from British Columbia to Mexico—has been laid today. The bridge, which is being widened and straightened out on the South bridgehead and widened and straightened out on the North approaches to the mammoth center span, the final road work is promised to be completed by May 21st, the day set aside for the dedication and opening of Carquinez Bridge.

Weepah, Lusty Infant, Celebrates First Week Of Boom Existence

By IDWAL JONES
(By Universal Service)
TONOPAH, Nev., March 12.—Weepah, still in its pre-boom stage, was a week old yesterday, and its seven citizens, headed by Mayor George Allan, came out of their dog tents to greet over 100 visitors.

They were engineers, surveyors, mining promoters and newspaper writers. They left at nightfall convinced, most of them, that Weepah next week will be a wee Tonopah, and is destined to be a second Goldfield. For the first time in Nevada a mining excitement proceeds without being discredited by wisecracks. The most skeptical among them prefer to say nothing at all.

The young son of Frank Horton did a bit of prospecting on his own account while his father was away in Los Angeles working in an effort to open up once more the dead shaft of the "Electric" gold mine. He drove his pick near the mine and loosened a chunk of gold-bearing quartz.

He brought a couple of sackfuls to Tonopah, and gave it away to friends.

But he wouldn't say where he had found it. The town was dubious about the shaft, but became interested when it was divulged on March 3 that the quartz was found on the slope.

Already the trek is on. Goldfield had to wait two years until the workers came. Weepah has actually laid out town lots and a

RICHMOND IS NAMED FOR MARCH MEET

March Meeting of Contra Costa Chambers Will Be Held Here

Richmond has been selected as the meeting place for the March meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Contra Costa county, near Friday evening, March 18.

The local chamber has already made arrangements to hold the dinner meeting at the new Hotel Carquinez.

Directors of the Richmond organization are planning to attend the meeting, which is one of the most important to be held this year. George Upham of Brentwood is the new president of the associated chambers, succeeding Roy Davis of Antioch. Harry Barnes, secretary of the Pittsburg chamber of commerce, is secretary. There will be present at the meeting next Friday evening delegates from Walnut Creek, Pittsburg, Antioch, Brentwood, Byron, Martinez, Crockett, Pinole and Richmond, according to information coming to the local chamber of commerce.

The last meeting was held at Martinez.

Traffic Patrol Takes Care Of El Cerrito Road

Motorists who have been in the habit of riding through El Cerrito on San Pablo avenue at 40 and 50 miles per hour, taking advantage of the fact that one lone state highway patrolman took care of the entire distance between the county line and Pinole, are now taking the stretch at a "common sense" rate of speed.

For El Cerrito now has a motor patrol of its own, and its efficiency is attested by the fact that four or five motorists have already been cited to appear before City Recorder W. A. Hines and answer various charges of breaking traffic laws.

F. J. Walsh is the patrolman. He is equipped with a speedy car and patrols the two-mile stretch between the county line and the Santa Fe crossing.

The speed limit in this particular section is 20 miles an hour, but motorists have been accustomed to taking it at full speed.

Probe Death Of Woman Found In Hotel Bathtub

(By Universal Service)

DETROIT, Mich., March 12.—An investigation was started today by Coroner A. L. French into the mysterious death of a woman found in her bathtub in the Statler hotel. The theory that death was caused by heart disease was scouted after a physical examination.

The woman had registered as Helen Nash, of Chicago. She was about 45. The sole address left among her possessions, "1221 Spruce street, Chicago," proved fictitious.

No water was found in the lungs although the body had been submerged in the bathtub.

The suicide theory was also scouted by the hotel management, which stated that her bill due was $3. The sum of $145 was found among her possessions.

Work Appoints Fact Finding Commission On Boulder Dam

Passage of Flood Relief Measure Is Foreseen By Proponents

By JOHN T. LAMBERT

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Dr. Hubert Work, secretary of the interior, today announced that he has decided to appoint a fact-finding commission of experts and disinterested, public-spirited citizens to acquaint the country with the imperative need of development of the Colorado river by construction of a great dam at Boulder canyon.

Dr. Work's announcement was one of three interesting developments of the day forecasting the elevation of the boulder dam legislation to an issue of national importance.

Chairman Addison T. Smith of the house committee on irrigation and reclamation, in an earlier visit to President Coolidge at the White House, declared that the national sentiment will demand the passage of "this great American project" early in the next session of congress.

Senator Shortridge of California, also a visitor to President Coolidge, asserted that a non-partisan, patriotic consideration of the big project will ensure its passage.

Dr. Work, whose proposed committee of experts will view the scene of the proposed great dam and give the government and the public the benefit of a comprehensive study of the project, declared that he was greatly disappointed by the failure of the Boulder dam bill. He added, with emphasis:

"However, this Colorado river project has made more progress toward realization in the past two years than in the past twenty-five, and is only delayed because private interests were antagonistic and its importance not generally understood."

The "private interests" referred to by Secretary Work are understood to be the private power corporations, whose powerful lobbyists threw their influence against the bill.

Protection of the people from the catastrophe of floods demands passage of the bill, Dr. Work declared. Although it is one of the greatest projects ever to be undertaken by the government, the production of electrical energy from the great dam will compensate the government for every penny expended, he said.

Efforts To Give Florida Horse Racing Fair

(By Universal Service)

RACE TRACK, POMPANO, Fla., March 12.—Governor John W. Martin stopped horse racing here today.

Several thousand fans waited an hour for the meet to start, when it was suddenly announced by President Paul Beacom that his last appeal to the governor had failed.

Preparations were commenced immediately to remove the entire racing establishment human and equine to northern courses.

"My efforts to provide Florida with horse racing have failed temporarily," said President Beacom of the Pompano Horse club.

"Our newly adopted method of betting and contribution method of betting does not appeal to the authorities. We have always obeyed them and always shall. We must work for relief through legislation. I regret I have been unable to fulfill my promises to my friends, supporters and horsemen."

Governor Martin in authorizing the sheriff to stop gambling at the track, declared he was not against the King's sport itself, but was going to "break gambling."

SENATE HIT BY "MAYOR" WILL ROGERS

By HOMER THOMAS
(By Universal Service)

OAKLAND, Calif., March 12.—Castor Oil should be used to break Senate filibusters.

That's what Will Rogers humorist and self appointed diplomat thinks.

If Vice President Davies had gotten some of Missouri's castor oil for Senators Ashurst and Cameron," he told Oakland newspaper men today at luncheon California and the west would have had Boulder dam by now.

Coolidge will be a candidate for re-election. He thinks the campaign will be easy.

Coolidge likes the idea of four years free rent.

Discussing luncheon club's Rogers said: "It's getting so now that two men can't meet on the street without one pulling out a gavel and calling the other to order. Why the American people are paying more for dues than they are for gavel. Anything to keep from going home to lunch. There's more money invested in gavel than there is in plows."

Speaking of farm relief, Rogers said he thought the farmers had been relieved of about everything they've got now.

"These farmers are much like city fellows too. They're always holding conventions. The farmer would be a lot better off if they would pass more filling stations and less resolutions."

West Chopaka To Leave Mon. For Australia

The West Chopaka, steamship operated by Swayne and Hoyt, will leave dock at the Pier Terminal company wharf No. 1 Monday for case goods for the Orient.

The Croeskeys, vessel of the same company, left yesterday morning with a cargo of oils for Australia and New Zealand.

C. H. Engel, terminal agent, has announced a partial schedule for the remainder of March as follows:

March 21, steamer Roxen, General Steamship company, loading oil and case goods, for Australia and New Zealand.

March 25, steamer Harold Dollar, Dollar Steamship company, loading oil for Australia and New Zealand.

March 27, steamer West Conob, Swayne & Hoyt, loading oil for Australia and New Zealand.

March 28, steamer Elkridge, Swayne & Hoyt, loading oil for Australia and New Zealand.

Ford Sued For $1,000,000 In Libel Suit By Jewish Lawyer

Prejudice To Jews Is Charged by Wealthy Chicago Lawyer

By FRANK BOGART
(By Universal Service)

DETROIT, Mich., March 12.—Aaron Sapiro, millionaire Chicago attorney whom Henry Ford, through his publication, the Dearborn Independent, charged had attempted to hoodwink middle western farmers with a co-operative grain marketing scheme, Monday will open what apparently will be a six weeks' court battle to collect $1,000,000 in damages for libel from Mr. Ford.

Selection of a jury will not start until Tuesday. Monday will be spent by Federal Judge Fred S. Raymond of Grand Rapids, who has come here to try the case, in hearing arguments by Sapiro's counsel to delete two of the 21 counts in the bill of complaint.

Henry Ford eight years ago sued the Chicago Tribune for libel and won a 6-cent verdict.

As a result of his experiences as a witness in court during that case it is said that he has surrounded himself with impenetrable defenses that he can never be reached to obtain service upon him for appearance in any legal action that he does not wish to appear in.

The Ford counsel, headed by Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, hailed throughout this part of the country as the man who will wrest the next Democratic presidential nomination from Governor Al Smith of New York, deny in full all claims of the plaintiffs' counsel that they have succeeded in subpoenaing Mr. Ford.

Judge Robert S. Marx of Cincinnati is chief of counsel for Sapiro, who himself was at one time counsel for Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian just convicted of conspiracy to defraud the government.

But there will be at least 500 witnesses called during the case, among them some of the nation's greatest notables and the names of countless others of more or less prominence figure in the depositions that will be read into the record. Former Governor Frank Lowden of Illinois and Bernard M. Baruch, for Sapiro, are some of the best known who will probably be called.

Sapiro charges that the Ford articles named him as "the leader of a Jewish conspiracy to hoodwink farmers in a fraudulent scheme of co-operative marketing."

Senator Reed declared Saturday that any attempt to belaud the issues or to seek refuge in the cry of racial persecution, will be strenuously fought by him.

His alleged confederate, Royal J. Kenney, 23, of 475 Fifty-eighth street, Oakland, has been held to answer in the superior court, with bail fixed at $10,000.

Ano Kolari, 24, is still the object of search on the part of East Bay police.

Warwick was taken to Berkeley, arraigned, and in default of bail of $10,000 held to answer to the superior court.

Kenney was arrested several weeks ago by Oakland police and named Warwick and Kolari as his companions, admitting that he was one of the three "jettisoning" bandits who had previously defied the efforts of police to locate him.

Motorists Marooned On Roads as Drifts Tie Up Traffic

(By Universal Service)

DENVER, March 12.—Colorado was recovering tonight from one of the worst blizzards of the winter. Wire service is rapidly being restored and marooned motorists returning to their homes. Hundreds were forced to spend the night along the road between Denver, Colorado Springs and Pueblo, where drifts made travel impossible. Moderate temperature prevented undue suffering.

SWEEPING EAST

(By Universal Service)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 12.—The severe snow storm of Colorado and western Kansas has held up all trains from the west arriving today and has impaired long distance telephone and telegraph communications in this region.

Trains are from 3 to 10 hours late and station officials have abandoned all pretense of schedule.

The blizzard, centered today in western Kansas and did heavy damage to livestock.

Reports from western Kansas tonight were to the effect that the storm had abated there and was moving northeastward.

Second Pet Bandit Gives Up To Police

The second of three alleged "petting party" bandits, one of whose crimes was the robbery of Frank Malhot and Miss Jeanette Busulich, of Berkeley, in Richmond, February 21, surrendered to Oakland authorities yesterday. He is Howard Warwick, 24, of 1992 Emerson street.

He appeared at the police station, and with a debonair air of unconcern, stated that he had just learned that he was wanted for participation in the reign of terror which the trio spread over Oakland, Berkeley, Emeryville and Richmond.

His alleged confederate, Royal J. Kenney, 23, of 475 Fifty-eighth street, Oakland, has been held to answer in the superior court, with bail fixed at $10,000.

Ano Kolari, 24, is still the object of search on the part of East Bay police.

Kenney was arrested several weeks ago by Oakland police and named Warwick and Kolari as his companions, admitting that he was one of the three "jettisoning" bandits who had previously defied the efforts of police to locate him.

FARMS THAT PAY

It is natural that farmers should seek political action to relieve their economic ills. Any large group of citizens in distress turns instinctively to the government. It is likely, too, that considerable relief could be provided through governmental channels, if the problem were worked out wisely.

Nevertheless, in the long run, the prosperity of any class of producers depends on economic rather than political action, and tends to work out its fate through economic laws. Even where aid is sought through congressional laws, it is well to realize this fact and study the effects of economic laws actually in operation.

It is found by analytic students of the farm situation that an average farm, with varied production, does not pay very well unless the farmer has a large family to operate it without paying wages.

It is found that in general, there are two classes of farms from which more profit may naturally be expected than from others. They are first, the small farms near city markets, cultivated intensively for the production of fruits, vegetables, poultry and dairy products; and second, large areas of cheap land worked by modern machinery rather than men. Both of these kinds of farming require capital.

The plain tendency is toward the mechanical cultivation of larger and larger areas, making farming a business better adapted to corporations than a single families. This tendency shows already in the production of fruits and tobacco. It may soon be extended to other crops.

There is an equally plain tendency toward closer business cooperation among farmers, in production and distribution.

GETTING THE HEAT WHERE THE RHEUMATISM

It was 40 years after the war and 20 years ago or thereabouts that Captain Brimstone (we'll call him) and I put over a good one on the pension bureau. The captain needed money and he discovered that the rheumatism he had contracted from sleeping on the damp ground the night before the battle of Shiloh had finally settled in his feet. I endorsed this view, being, at the time, quite an expert on afflictions that settled slowly, and as the government, all good health authorities and regular doctors at that time concurred in the theory, the captain received an increase in his pension. I have never been troubled in conscience about this, for I think it is a fair enough game for a veteran to get his desert from the government by hook or crook, since that is the way the government gets the soldier to fight.

The captain certainly had something the matter with his legs—flat feet or varicose veins or something, I forget just what it was. Of course he had no rheumatism, because there is no such entity. But he and I and the government were willing to let it go as rheumatism for the purpose of arranging the pension matter. Rheumatism is just a term of convenience. You call it rheumatism when you don't care just what does all you or when you haven't time to stop and explain what you really believe is the matter. Any way, doctors do.

New friends, if you have rheumatism please do not be angry or impatient with me. I take this attitude not just to be funny or flippant, but for the sake of your health. You can't realize how earnestly I wish there were such an entity or disease as rheumatism with some specific or curative remedy or treatment which I could tell you about. But there isn't, and so we must make the best of the situation. For my part, I'll keep on with my very unpopular preaching, and for your part you must either try to think I'm wrong and inspired by some base motive or else you must consider what steps you will take to find out what your trouble really is. That may not insure restoration of health, but it will prove to you that after all Old Doctor Brady was right. Only let us hope this proof will come before it is too late to do anything for your trouble.

A thoughtful reader contributes (below) a very plausible explanation of the old prejudice against "night air." Our forefathers observed that day air was healthful and being of a gloomy temperament they twisted this into a fancy that the night air was harmful. (I suspect the night flying habit of the Anopheles mosquito, carrier of malaria, had a good deal to do with it.) Well, now, there is a similar association of dampness with "rheumatism" and this association is still fondly cherished in the layman's imagination. Some of the older doctors lend at least passive support to it. Indeed, it was quite reasonable and regular to opine that Captain Brimstone got the rheumatism from sleeping on the damp ground. That exposure to cold or damp weather, say going barefoot or bare knee, has some bearing on an individual's susceptibility to the various joint diseases, some of our best physicians still believe, although they no longer imagine there is such an entity as rheumatism.

Whatever ground there may be for the fancy that cold or dampness has something to do with such diseases (and I can't understand how any thinking person can harbor such a notion today), anybody who has ever had a sprained ankle or almost any injury attended with pain, swelling, lameness, stiffness or inflammation, knows from experience that heat gives relief and does good.

From the lowly red flannel wrappings to the resplendent electricity heated oven or lamp bath, innumerable methods of applying dry heat have been employed with more or less success in the treatment of a score of diseases which masquerade under the name of rheumatism. But of all these methods not one has been found which appreciably raises the internal temperature of a joint, muscle, tendon or other affected structure.

Within the last year or two a method of accomplishing this very thing has been made available to physicians. It is called diathermy, which means literally heating through. This consists of a special form of radiant energy, a type of electric current, which is converted to heat in the deep tissues. Diathermy has already, amply established itself as a powerful weapon against a score of painful and disabling afflictions which have long defied the best efforts of the healer. Physicians in every community are equipped with the necessary skill and apparatus to administer this treatment. It would be unsafe in any other hands, even if others than qualified physicians could purchase the apparatus.

A patient with an obstinate fracture or sprain or similar injury limps painfully to the doctor's office, receives 15 or 20 minutes of this penetrating heat, and walks away in comfort and enjoys comfort for many hours or days after the treatment. This surely has not been possible with any of the older forms of heat treatment, because until diathermy was introduced heat could not get in where the rheumatism.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Sounds Reasonable

Physicians of former times arrived at certain conclusions empirically. Perhaps this was how the night air bogie came about. As you teach, we are benefited by the ultraviolet ray in sunlight and possibly by something like a vitamin in the air in the daytime. At night these factors are absent. Therefore night air is less beneficial than day air. The old timers observed this fact in their experience. They were more pessimistic in the old days, we are more optimistic. They ascribed the difference to harm done by the night air. We ascribe it to benefits derived from day air. (W. M. A.)

Answer—I reckon you are right. Brother, I'll bet you can have a good time almost any time just thinking.

YOUR BOY AND YOUR GIRL

By ARTHUR DEAN, SC. D.
The Parent Counselor

Dr. Dean will answer all signed letters pertaining to parents' problems with their boys and girls. Writers' names are never printed. Only questions of general interest are mailed in a column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Address Arthur Dean, in care of this paper.

YOUTH'S CONTRIBUTION DAY

I am getting a great thrill out of these letters from the young people. If the bleacher warmers get one-tenth of the keen satisfaction in reading them that I do then I am more than repaid for the task of reading the batch to discover the answer which starts us thinking always, commencing often, and cursing seldom.

Here is a good letter sent to "Topekain," who, in his letter printed here, classed himself as a "social jackass." You'll like this one.

"Dear Topekain: 'Just between two young people, drawn together by a mutual friend, Dr. Dean, didn't you write your letter because you were lonely—too lonely to contain yourself longer? If you were to find the girl of your desire tonight, wouldn't your next letter to Dr. Dean have a more kindly note?'

'You say people don't want you at social affairs. Do you know why? It's because you lack personality. Some people are born with personality written clearly all over 'em, and it's our hard luck that we're behind the door when it was passed out. Our hard luck, I say, but by no means our funeral.'

'Do you remember, way back in the first grade, how you despaired of ever being able to write your own name, or, in the third grade, how you just couldn't remember six times nine? But you did learn, after you'd tried your hardest, didn't you?'

'Or were you unusually bright in school? Did your lessons come to you without much effort? Then try to sympathize with the poor fellow brimming over with personality who had such a hard struggle to learn. You don't expect to have everything. You've proved that you have brains—lots of 'em. Then do the wise thing—Make 'em work for you in developing a pleasing personality.'

'The next time you are invited to a social affair, instead of sitting around wishing you had a personality like 'So-and-So's,' force yourself into the circle and make yourself the life of the party. Oh, it won't be a clutch—it's going to take lots of grit to get yourself liked and invited places. You're going to get lots of rebuffs; but when you've succeeded you'll agree with me that it's worth every effort. After you've got yourself acknowledged and wanted you'll find it will just come natural for you to be the life of the party.'

'What are you aiming to be in this world, Topekain? Are you slugging along with the conviction that you're cut out and, with your parents' aid, doomed to be a nincompoop? Or are you determined to be a fine citizen, even if your early life and all the odds are against you? Are you going to show the world you can succeed even if you're rowing against the tide? Then, God bless you, partner, you're bound to succeed, and you're going to like it, too. It all depends on YOU.'

'I'm closing with the finest little verse I have ever come across:—

'It isn't the task that will make or mar

Your chance in life; it is what you are;

Whatever the job that you find to do—

It is only a chance for the best of you.'

'Let's see what YOU can do, Topekain.'

'JUST TWENTY.'

'P. S. About that girl business, today.'

Like the man who comes out of an awful unearthing trance, Fred Blake found himself, ages later, staring down at the newspaper which his dead mother still kept clutched in her hand. With lifeless eyes he read:

Mother Still Trying to Locate Boy Missing 20 Years; Scar on Right Hand Only Clue to Identity.

Scar on Right Hand. . . . With a savage choking cry Fred leaped to his feet. That tramp! That filthy scoundrel whom Silver had killed once. Oh, what stupidity to let him escape when he had had him in his fingers! He buried his face in his arms.

It was all so plain. The tramp had in some way gained entrance to the house. His mother had been reading the paper, had seen the article about the man with the scar, then in some indeterminate way had attempted to bring the tramp's attention to the article—his own scar. . . . And the tramp had killed, attracted perhaps by the thought of robbery. Killed . . . a man's mother.

They found him later with clenched teeth and unseeing eyes, kneeling by the body of Lucinda Blake, the newspaper clutched with iron strength in his big brown hand. There was a terrible purpose in those eyes.

CHAPTER IV

THE MAN WHO WATCHED: It was a different Fred Blake who stepped off the long pulling train in St. Louis. It was a Fred Blake hardened, almost sinister, dressed in a rough outfit—spurred, but booted, black shirt, huge Western hat. It was a Fred Blake with his heart scarred and torn, and the overwhelming desire for revenge in his breast.

He had tracked Fred Monroe—tramp and long-haired son of the wealthy California Monroes—from city to city, missing him by only a matter of minutes in some places, sometimes losing the trail completely, but always sticking to his job of finding the man who had snuffed out the life of Lucinda Blake and making him pay for his crime.

This, it seemed, was the end of the trail. An old ranch friend had in some way run across Monroe's track in St. Louis, and had mysteriously discovered his hiding-place, and had wired Fred. Picking his way handily, through brush, his coat with black misery in the heart, the avenger was on the last lap of his terrible journey. . . . In a dingy room in East St.

THE STORY SO FAR

Lucinda Blake, a Western widow, sees an article in a paper describing a long-lost son of a certain Mrs. Monroe of Sierra, California. A tramp asks for food. She thinks she recognizes him as the sought-for son by a scar on his hand; but he steals, and she accuses to shock. Fred, her son, coming from a rodeo, sends Silver, his horse, ahead; and Silver instinctively attacks the tramp.

CHAPTER III—Continued. Fred shrugged his shoulders thoughtfully. "There's something wrong with Silver tonight, Ben," he said to the driver. "He's never been disobedient before."

"Probably off his feed," drawled Fogarty, starting to race his engine. "Well, Fred, I gotta be mosey on." My best to yore mother." Waving his hand, he rode slowly off, clanking and puttingtering.

Silver suddenly stopped off toward the house, turning his head in an unmistakable gesture to his master. A quick leap landed Fred's eyes and his hand jerked at his holster.

"Shouting 'Hi Ben! Stop!' after the retreating automobile, he dashed after his horse, vaulted the gate of his house and ran up the path to the door. As he stood there, trembling, he could hear the increasing clatter of Fogarty's return. What's the trouble, Fred? old boy?" asked Fogarty, but Fred slowly opened the door and stepped into the house.

Fogarty and he stood staring down at the prone figure of Lucinda Blake, lying in the doorway, a little heap, in the center of the living-room floor, a paper clutched in her hand. She was quite still. With grim ferocity Fred whispered to Fogarty, "Get the letter read in part: 'If you are really my son—and something tells me that my prayers are being answered—come to me at once. Fred Monroe was my boy's name—and he had a scar on the back of his right hand. It has been twenty years since he was lost, but I'm sure a mother's heart would not be deceived by the changes time had wrought.'

"GRACE MONROE." Talk about easy money! He'd wire right now! Grinning, he took a pencil and laboriously wrote out a telegram. Then, putting on his coat, he went out of the room, closing the door behind him.

He did not see through his alley window the dark shadow of a Western-looking man seated at an opposite window, reading a paper, and occasionally glancing at him in his room.

Fred Blake walked swiftly up the street and came to a certain house. This was the place. With set lips he opened the downstairs hall door and stepped quickly up the stairs, as he ascended noiselessly. He found the penciled name of "Frederick Monroe" on a door on the first floor. Listening, he could hear no sound; and with some help!" and stepped forward. Fogarty ran out. Fred knelt at the quiet little figure and turned her over. She was dead.

"You killed the General's thing I had on earth, and now I'm going to thrash you to within an inch of your life, and then let the police settle with you. Do you hear me?" "I want I say!" He rose menacingly, determined to braver it out.

Men Who Made the World

KING RICHARD I.

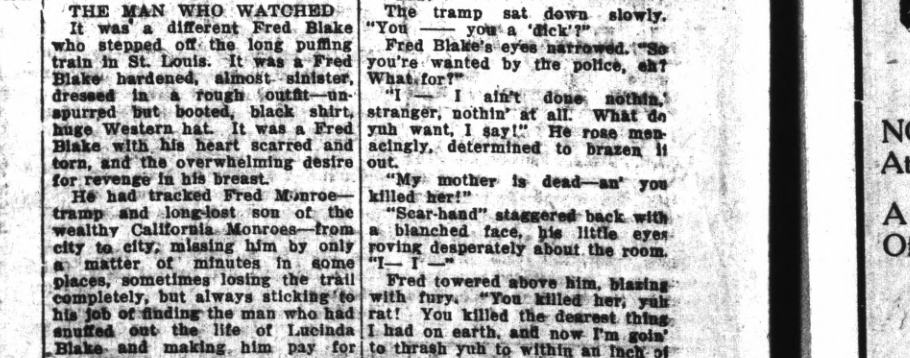

By Dr. Elliot Shoring, The Noted Historian

A SORT OF TRUCE HAD NOW COME INTO BEING BETWEEN THE TWO ARMIES, AND THE KNIGHTS, AND EVEN THE COMMON SOLDIERS ON EACH SIDE, FRATERNIZED ON VERY FRIENDLY TERMS. IT WAS A CURIOUS EXAMPLE OF THE WAR PSYCHOLOGY OF THOSE DAYS—THE AGE OF CHIVALRY. IT WAS A MATTER OF PRIDE THAT SOLDIERS, WHEN NOT ENGAGED IN ACTUAL WARFARE, TREATED EACH OTHER WITH THE UTMOST POLITENESS. THERE WAS NO PERSONAL ENMITY, EACH MAN RATHER INFLUENCED ONLY BY HIS LOYALTY TO A PRINCE, AND SO THE OPPOSING SIDES NOW, DURING THIS TRUCE, ACTED WITH THE GREATEST GENEROSITY AND FRIENDSHIP TOWARDS EACH OTHER. THE KNIGHTS PARTICULARLY, AND OTHER OFFICERS EXCHANGED VISITS, ARRANGED CELEBRATIONS, AND TOURNAMENTS FOR THEIR MUTUAL AMUSEMENT, WHICH WERE ATTENDED BY THE OFFICERS OF BOTH ARMIES. INDEED, WHEN RICHARD BECAME INDISPOSED AND THE NEWS REACHED THE SALADIN, THE LATTER SENT RICHARD A GIFT OF LUSCIOUS FRUITS FROM DAMASCUS. AND SO WE SEE THE STRANGE SITUATION OF FRIENDLY ENEMIES.

RICHARD WAS NOW GROWING TIRED OF HIS CRUSADE. NOTHING HAD GONE VERY WELL SINCE THE CAPTURE OF ACCRE. HIS ARMY HAD BEEN REPELLED AT EACH ATTEMPT TO INVADE THE INTERIOR. IT WAS NOW HEIMED IN BY THE ENEMY AND SHUT WITHIN A FEW COAST TOWNS. HIS TROOPS HAD DIMINISHED TERRIBLY IN NUMBERS AND IN MORALE—HOPE OF REINFORCEMENTS FROM EUROPE WAS VAGUE. MOREOVER, RICHARD WAS WORRYING ABOUT HIS OWN DOMINIONS IN ENGLAND AND NORMANDY. HE DID NOT TRUST PHILIP. INTRIGUES WERE GOING ON AT HOME WHICH MIGHT COST HIM HIS DOMINIONS. HIS MOTHER WROTE HIM, URGING HIM TO RETURN.

RICHARD WANTED TO RETURN HOME, BUT HE FELT HE COULD NOT DO SO HONORABLY AND SAVE HIS REPUTATION. WITHOUT MAKING SOME AGREEMENT WITH SALADIN BY WHICH THE HOLY SEPULCHRE COULD BE SECURED TO THE CHRISTIANS, HE ASKED SALADIN TO RESTORE THE TRUE CROSS AND YIELD JERUSALEM AND HE WOULD WITHDRAW. THE SALADIN REPLIED THAT JERUSALEM WAS AS SACRED TO THE MUHAMMADAN AS TO THE CHRISTIANS, AND HE COULD NOT SURRENDER IT. REGARDING THE TRUE CROSS, THE SALADIN TOLD RICHARD THAT IF THE CHRISTIANS OBTAINED IT, THEY WOULD WORSHIP IT IN A MANNER FORBIDDEN IN THE KORAN, SO HE COULD NOT, THEY GIVE IT UP.

King Baggot's production, "Lovey Mary," which was adapted from the story by Alice Hegan Rice, with Jessie Love, William Haines, Mary Alden and Vivian Ogden in the featured roles, comes to the screen of the Richmond theatre today as the feature photoplay attraction.

"Lovey Mary" is the story of a girl who, with the little waltz she had learned to love, fled from the orphanage that was their only home, into the world outside. And there they met adventure and romance, sunshine and shadows, that will win your laughs, draw your tears, straight from the heart! This famous novel is now a film of magic charm, happy appeal.

Other film features on the same program include "Mister Wife," a Neil Burns comedy, and "Kinograms," world news events.

Coming Monday and Tuesday, "Mismates," adapted from the play by Myron C. Fagan, featuring Doris Kenyon and Warner Baxter.

Lewis Stone In Midnight Lover
At California

If a man loves his wife should he help her get a divorce? Lewis Stone is cast in this unique predicament in his featured role of "Midnight Lovers," which will be shown at the California theatre today.

Deeply in love with his wife of a month, the husband is asked by her lawyer to help her get a divorce so she can marry another whom she loves.

The process for securing the divorce is very interesting, as demonstrated on the screen. By forging past letters to each other, in which the wife asks the husband to return and the husband refuses, the proper grounds for divorce are established.

The husband does all this for his wife, but gets drunk, and returns to his house before the time limit for desertion is past. The rest of the story is hilarious in the denouement by which the husband wins back his wife and ejects the other suitor.

Anna Q. Nilsson plays the role of the sentimentally comic wife, and John Roche acts as the other lover.

The others in the cast are Chester Conklin, Dale Fuller, Purnell Pratt and Harvey Clarke. Carey Wilson, who wrote the adaptation, also was editorial director of the production, and John Francis Dillon directed it.

"Midnight Lovers" was produced for First National under the management of John McCormick.

Other features include "Barnum Was Right," a screen scream; "Kinograms," world news events; Weigle's Californians; Larry Canelo at the organ, and five big acts of vaudeville.

Funeral services are pending for Mrs. Mary Anna Flohs, well known resident of Richmond district, who passed away at the family home in Market street, San Pablo, yesterday morning. Mrs. Flohs came to San Pablo 32 years ago. She was 63 years of age and a native of Germany.

She is survived by her husband, Adolph Flohs, and the following sons and daughters: Mrs. Ida Moltoza, Mrs. Anna Crest, Mrs. Frances Podetti, Valentin Flohs, Otto Flohs, and Alfred Flohs, all of San Pablo, and Mrs. Margaret Davies of Oakdale.

GOOD PROGRAM OF VAUDEVILLE
AT CALIFORNIA

There is a well diversified program of varieties to be seen at the California theatre today and an entertaining picture, "Midnight Lovers," making altogether an ideal double bill.

Wal Balmus, Australia's noted athlete, opens proceedings with a short film displaying his stunts, then does a series of poses and balancing that are catchy and attractive.

"The Crooning Cowboy" is the title given Lon Fishback, a young Texan with a pleasing tenor voice, a neat personality and a routine of numbers that will please.

Tiffany, Falk and Peggy in a "Cabaret Revue" are three young people who feature dancing and a little song and piano playing for good measure. Tiffany specializes in eccentric terpsichorean efforts while Miss Falk presents Oriental and acrobatical numbers.

Nat Vincent, the well known composer and writer of "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles," "Horsefly," and many other successes, offers a piano singing comedy act with Miss Helen Franklyn, a likable comedienne, singing some special hits. A sure fire success on any bill.

The three Bennett sisters offer a distinct novelty in vaudeville. Boxing, wrestling and fencing follow in turn, making a colorful presentation that must be seen to be appreciated.

Richmond Club
Postpones Meet

Owing to preparations being made for the reception of the state president, Mrs. Marie Bertola on Wednesday, no meeting of the Richmond club will be held Monday afternoon. It was announced yesterday by Mrs. S. B. Wilson, president of the club.

CHANDLER CARS

Styled to the minute, powered to the limit, priced to a hair—that's the story (short and sweet) of the superb new 1927 Chandler models.

Chandler today builds one of the most selective lines of fine motor cars now before the public—in number of models, in body styles, in price range!

Here is beauty of a newer, higher order. Here is riding comfort far superior to that which most motorists know. Here is performance that fires your pulse—great stamina, great smoothness, great quietness—the uttermost joys of motoring.

All these new 1927 Chandler models are refined to a nicety . . . further beautified and enriched . . . and all are equipped with Chandler's "One Shot" system of centralized chassis lubrication; an air cleaner; an oil purifier; 4-wheel brakes; thermostatic water control; self-adjusting spring shackles—a list of advantages as long as your arm! Study these cars, their smartness, their charm, then take a drive!

Last Rites Are Held For Malley

Last rites for Frank Malley, alias Frank Allen, who was killed by one of his companions in a holdup on the San Pablo Dam road last Sunday night, were conducted from the Wilson and Kratzer chapel yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment followed in Sunset View cemetery.

Malley leaves his wife, Mrs. Ida Malley; his mother, Mrs. James Malley, and two children, all of whom live at 1780 Eleventh avenue, San Francisco.

Malley's body was found in an as a result of the killing.

Boy Scouts Hold Baseball Practice

Boys of Troop No. 6, Boy Scouts of America, met at the first street ball park Saturday morning for baseball practice. Scoutmaster William C. NEW MODELS OF CHANDLER ARE MAKING GAINS RECORD YEAR IS PREDICTED FOR WILLYS-KNIGHT

Chandler's new Special Six and Standard Six series are making consistent sales gains throughout the nation. Sid Black, vice-president and general sales manager of the Chandler-Cleveland Motors corporation, reports.

Analysis of current quarterly sales statistics from August 1 to October 31 inclusive, reveal the popularity of these two new Chandler models in 12 great metropolitan buying centers, ranging from the East to the Pacific coast.

In comparison with 1925, Chandler's average sales gain for the current quarter (August, September and October), is 124 per cent in such representative centers as New York, Baltimore, Rochester, Buffalo, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Milwaukee, Birmingham, Los Angeles and San Francisco, Mr. Black revealed.

"We may reasonably suppose the buying public in these centers are motor wise to perhaps a greater extent than in cities of lesser size," said George Olson in discussing the gain, "since such a selection does not mirror the Chandler increase in any one section of the country, but gives a more accurate picture of the growing national sales spread regardless of fluctuating general business conditions."

The stamp of approval placed on the 1927 line of four and six cylinder Whippets and Willys-Knight sixes by the motor car buyers of the country has reached a point which indicates that Willys-Overland has launched into a year which is destined to set a new high mark in sales and production figures, according to J. P. Strom, local dealer.

Company officials declare that the unusual reception accorded the Whippets and Willys-Knights is a tribute to the engineering features which mark these models. The principles of design embodied in these new models include a low center of gravity which provides a greater safety and comfort; four-wheel brakes, now looked upon as necessary equipment for all automobiles, regardless of price or size; smart lines; unusually roomy interiors; powerful and speedy motors; economy of operation; smoothness and flexibility. All of these, the makers assert, have been instrumental in winning for Willys-Overland the position of engineering leadership in the automobile industry.

In commenting on the success and the popularity of the 1927 Willys-Knight and Whippets, John N. Willys, president of Willys-Overland, said:

"The signs for Willys-Overland are unmistakable. With the biggest and best line of automobiles in the history of our company and with the great popular reception this line has received, we believe this year will be the most successful ever enjoyed by Willys-Overland."

"The position of engineering leadership we have reached has come after four years of development at the factory which has been devoted to a modernization of designs and a scrapping of the old engineering ideas which have become obsolete through new engineering thought."

Production at the Willys-Overland plant in Toledo is being kept at high tide. This applies to the output of each of the four lines, the four-cylinder Whippet, the Whippet Six, the "70" Willys-Knight Six and the Willys-Knight Great Six.

Boy's Speed In Chasing Fires Nets 3 Bandits

NEW YORK, March 12.—Johnny Conway ran after the fire engines and worried his mother most to death.

But tonight she is proud. For Johnny, who is 14, learned to filter through a crowd at terrific speed.

And today he raced six blocks chasing a car of would-be bandits who had been blocked in a robbery attempt.

At the end of the chase he gasped out an identification to three cops who were herding crowds before Madison Square Garden.

The blue-coats dived into an apartment into which the bandits had disappeared after abandoning their car, and reappeared with three prisoners.

Now Johnny has a new ambition—he wants a job on the force.

Big Rally Held Here By Yeomen From All Of California

Visitors from lodges over the entire state were in attendance last night at the big rally meeting of the Brotherhood of American Yeomen held in Odd Fellows hall.

Vice-president Frank F. Baylor of Des Moines, Iowa, delivered the principal address of the evening, and was the guest of honor. State Manager Frank J. Elliot was also a distinguished visitor of the evening and gave a short talk.

Initiation ceremonies for a large class of candidates were conducted, and later a supper and dancing enjoyed. Mrs. Amy Pearson supervised the supper. Miss Eva Craven, honorable foreman of the Richmond homestead, presided over the business meeting, assisted by D. H. Carpenter, as correspondent. Picked teams from the following homesteads conferred degrees last night: Stockton, San Bruno, Oakland, San Francisco, two homesteads; Manteca, Sacramento, Santa Cruz and San Jose.

51st Offer Of Summer White House Received

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Offer No. 51 of a summer White House was received by President Coolidge today.

The latest offer was presented from Governor H. C. Baldrige of Idaho by Representative Addison T. Smith.

Governor Baldrige, in a letter, pleaded with the President not to make a final decision on the scene of his summer vacation until the state of Idaho has a chance to present elaborate plans for him and Mrs. Coolidge, which it is now making.

C. C. Hamlin, Republican national committeeman from Colorado, visited the President today with a renewed request to pass the summer in the state of the Rockies and the Columbian. The Penrose estate in Estes Park and a private estate in Estes park are among the Colorado offers made to the President.

A new order of motoring

A triumph of Engineering Leadership

Your first glance tells you that the improved, finer Willys-Knight Sixes are the most advanced of today's motor cars.

New and finer body design is at once apparent. Lower, more graceful lines. True symmetry, perfect proportion. Roomier and more comfortable interiors. Superior craftsmanship.

Even a casual inspection of the finer "70" Willys-Knight Six is enough to excite your enthusiasm. But drive the car. A 25 mile ride will reveal to you a new order of motoring. Far ahead of any performance standards you have known before.

Speed between 60 and 70 miles an hour. Lightning pickup—5 to 25 miles in 7½ seconds.

Amazing power on hills—53 h. p. motor. Quietness, smoothness, flexibility that only the patented Knight sleeve-valve engine can give.

Safety—the quickest-stopping, easiest-handling car you have ever driven.

The engine of the finer "70" Willys-Knight Six is the most powerful standard power plant of its size in America.

Because of its patented sleeve-valve principle, this engine actually grows smoother, more powerful and more efficient with every mile of service.

It has no valves to grind. You never lay it up for carbon-cleaning. It has no springs to weaken. It is practically fool-proof and wear-proof. No Willys-Knight motor, so far as we know, has ever worn out...

"70" Willys-Knight Six: prices from $1299 to $1495. Willys-Knight Great Six, "for those who want the finest," $1599 to $2295. Prices f.o.b. factory and specifications subject to change without notice. Purchases may be arranged on convenient credit terms. Willys-Overland, Inc., Toledo, Ohio.

The Best Investment is in Fong Wan Herbs

4837 Shattuck Ave., Oakland, Cal., July 30, 1926.
Ten years ago I had malaria which left me with a lingering pain in my left kidney and running around my left side. Before I came to Oakland I had treated with numerous physicians and had been in several hospitals in New York. As I got no relief whatever, I was advised to make a change of climate. I therefore came West, but here I suffered as badly as ever.

Finally a friend urged me to try the FONG WAN HERBS. One week of this treatment gave me wonderful, permanent relief. During the year that has elapsed since I have had absolutely no indications of my former complaints.

(How wonderful it seems that the FONG WAN HERBS could thus help me after the doctors and hospitals had failed! I am a barber by trade. Had it not been for the FONG WAN HERB TREATMENTS how could I have earned a living while suffering with those terrible pains?)

I am very thankful to the FONG WAN HERB SPECIALIST for what he has done for me and am giving him this testimonial as a token of my gratitude.

President Bert X. Tucker, Vice President Dan Rionian, Secretary A. C. Faris, and Past Presidents J. O. Ford and C. E. Clark represented the Richmond Lions club at the quarterly meeting of the Officers' association of Group No. 1, Division No. 4 of the Lions' International at Walnut Creek yesterday afternoon.

Plans were made for the district convention to be held in Riverside some time in May. New officers of Group No. 1 were elected. Jules Le Moine, of Walnut Creek, was named secretary of the organization. The next meeting of Group No. 1 will be held in Petaluma in September.

Representatives from the majority of the clubs of the district were in attendance. Lunch was served by the Walnut Creek delegates, and music provided by

NEW DEVICE IS FUEL SAVER ON BUICK MOTOR

Buick engineers recommend that the oil be entirely changed in the 1927 Buicks only four times a year.

This result is accomplished through the prevention of crankcase dilution and by sealing the engine and oil from all abrasives which might reduce the efficiency of the lubricant.

The elimination of crankcase dilution is one of the greatest problems confronting the automobile industry. The solution of this problem removes all the objectionable features of winter driving, such as freezing the oil pump, frequent oil change and formation of acid in the crankcase which is very injurious to all working parts of the engine.

The greatest saving effected by the Buick device for preventing dilution is in the oil, it being necessary to change oil only every three months, instead of every 500 miles, as in the past. Buick has solved dilution with a vacuum crankcase ventilator in combination with a thermostatic water control.

Vapor Is Menace
One of the chief products of the explosive mixture in a gasoline engine is water. For every gallon of gasoline burned, a gallon of water is produced in the form of steam. When starting up a cold engine, water and the heavy ends of the fuel which are not combustible below a certain engine temperature find their way down past the pistons in the form of vapor. Unless these products are removed while in the form of vapor they will condense and cause water, kerosene and acid dilution. The result is excessive engine wear, the breaking down of hard wearing metals, and short life for the engine.

ging the stoves fed with sagebrush. But there is one house—that of Frank Horton, the founder of Weepah, who has been waiting 11 years for all this to happen. He is a man in his early fifties, tanned, and a simple, good-hearted desert soul, who saw his mine sold over his head for taxes last November.

He showed me the vein where the strike was made. It is two feet wide, and probably the richest quartz ever witnessed in Nevada. Yesterday, before 600 spectators, all experienced mining men, he broke off a handful of rock, ground it in a mortar, washed it in a frying pan, and showed that a third of the bulk was pure gold. So far he has with his own hands picked out 100 sacksful of ore, valued at $44,800.

Is it below? Perhaps it is only a pocket, and may end tomorrow. A California miner, used to working in serpentine and slate, might argue, but the desert has a geology of its own. At Weepah are eruptive rocks, sand and gravel from ancient sea-beaches, granite and rhyolite, all mixed up in a geologic hasty-pudding.

I asked a well known California mining engineer, Letson, Balliett, and a geologist of distinction, who is here on the scene, what about the pockets.

"If it's a pocket," he said, "then there can be pockets further down and all about."

He himself is impressed. So are other engineers. Who wouldn't be? Horton's samples assay $78,000 to the ton. Old timers from Goldfield, Tonopah, hard-bitten veterans who have lived through the Manhattan and Gilbert booms, are drifting in to see what they can locate.

But every foot of land within six miles of Horton's strike was staked out last Sunday. Newcomers will have to buy. It's a gamble for everybody, but the genial bootleggers who have the best tents of all, and require cash, though if stock is half as precious as the stuff they sell they may take the paper.

The going to Weepah is hard. It would take a burro four days to traverse the mountainous, desolate country to that spot at the foot of the Silver peak ridge. The land is all desert, dotted with dead sage brush. There is no animal life nor timber.

The boom is unique in that hardly a single prospector with a burro has come along. The Nevada burro, whose hoof has been the key to great mining fortunes, is almost as extinct as the great auk. Your modern prospector lives in a Ford and hates to stray off the beaten path and risk a puncture.

Horton, puffing at 15-cent cigars and clad in a brown business suit, squats in his hole and pecks away at rock as full of gold as peanut candy is full of sugar. Boom or no boom, he is having the time of his life, for he has owned half of Hetch Hetchy, dined off $100 gold plates, lost a million twice and now luck has turned again.

The Sharkey measure, providing for $91,500 to be used in deepening Suisun Channel is receiving favorable comment throughout Contra Costa county. To date, eight organizations of the county have given their endorsements.

FACTORY SETS AUTO RECORD

Responding to an unprecedented and enthusiastic demand on the part of the public for the most beautiful Chevrolet in Chevrolet history with its numerous refinements at lowered prices, the Chevrolet Motor Company during February again smashed all previous monthly production records by producing 85,821 cars.

February production this year showed an increase of 34,518 cars or more than 67 per cent over the total of 51,303 Chevrolets built in February 1925.

Despite greatly enlarged facilities provided under the $10,000,000 expansion program completed December 1, 1926, the Chevrolet Motor Company was forced to extend its operations by working overtime, day and night, to meet the nationwide demand for Chevrolet cars—a demand marking the rise of this company to its position as the largest manufacturer of gearshift cars in the world.

"There is only one reason for the phenomenal growth in popularity of the Chevrolet car," said Harry G. Golden, local Chevrolet Dealer, "and that is—it has pleased the public. It has met the desire of the public for a high grade car, of exceptional quality and performance, at a reasonable price. It is this constantly growing approval of the Chevrolet car that is causing the company to extend its production to meet the increasing demand."

In the first two months of 1927 the Chevrolet Motor Company built 46,373 cars; in the same period in 1926 it built 97,740 and in January and February of this year is totaled 169,497 cars—an increase in two years for this period of 113,124 cars.

Perhaps they keep making new laws because the old ones are broken.

ROMANCE OF ENGLISH 'DEB' IS DECLASSE

By ROBERT J. PREW
(By Universal Service)

LONDON, March 12.—Marcella Duggan, daughter of Lady Curzon of Kedleston, and one of the most beautiful debutantes of the last season, is the heroine of a romantic dispute with her mother, which is deadlocked today by the fact that the young woman has fled the parental roof.

A week ago, to the surprise of all Mayfair, the announcement was made of the engagement of Marcella to Edward Rice, a young lawyer of no particular eminence. Lady Curzon, who for many years has been one of the most prominent hostesses in London, promptly denied the report, much to the chagrin of her daughter.

Marcella, who is now 19 and was presented at court last season, tearfully pleaded with her mother to acknowledge the engagement. When Lady Curzon refused, the daughter resorted to defiance.

Lady Curzon ordered her to her room but while she was looking for the key, in order to lock Marcella in, the little "deb" slipped away from the Curzon house on Carlton House terrace.

A little later, Marcella telephoned to her mother with the information that she was staying with friends of her fiancé. The following day Marcella sent her French maid to the home she had deserted to fetch some clothes. She very abruptly declines to return home until her mother yields on the engagement question and Lady Curzon, who hoped that her daughter would make a brilliant marriage, is equally firm, refusing to countenance the present love affair.

The distracted mother refused to comment on the affair. Young Rice is reported to be away from London.

Marcella Duggan is the late Lord Curzon's stepdaughter. Her father

Man Sends Two Human Skulls Through Mail

HARBALE, N. Y., March 12.—Postoffice inspectors have traced the sender of two human skulls which were found here last Thursday behind the National Bank building. Capt. McQuillan of the police has gone to Norwalk to interview the person supposed to have mailed the ghastly package. His identity has been withheld.

The skulls, said to be new, were sawed in half with surgeons' skill. The address on the package was affixed, but two newspapers containing the inner wrappers bore the dates of November 17 and January 27 last. The wrapper was postmarked either Norwalk or Norwich, Conn.

was Alfred Duggan, of Buenos Aires, and her grandfather was J. Monroe Hinds, formerly United States minister to Brazil.

PARR AND READY WILL TALK AT C. C. DINNER

Every indication points to a 100 per cent attendance at the big membership dinner of the Richmond chamber of commerce scheduled for Tuesday evening next, March 15, at which Lester G. Ready, president of the Key System Transit company, will be the principal speaker and honor guest, with Fred D. Parr as another speaker.

P. M. Sanford, president of the commercial organization, will preside, and introduce the speakers. Reservations at $1 a plate are pouring into the chamber of commerce and fully 200 members are expected to sit down to the special turkey dinner with E. J. Averson, manager of the new Hotel Carquinez, is preparing for the occasion.

The affair Tuesday night has been arranged under the direction of the entertainment committee, comprising W. W. Scott, H. A. Johnston, Harry Albert, F. B. La Moine and J. H. Plate.

An investigation among monks in England who eat no meat indicated that vegetarians are not immune to cancer.
